

The DEFINING OPPORTUNITIES FOR GROWTH Turning Point

Animas says ¡Hola Hermosillo!

Since the last edition of the Turning Point, Animas Resources Ltd. (formerly Deal Capital, "DCP") experienced its own turning point. Shortly after the IPO, DCP acquired a Mexican property north of Hermosillo, Sonora named the Santa Gertrudis Gold Project. This has generated a great deal of interest from investors and industry professionals alike.

The SG project was first discovered in 1981 and is a known gold producer with 564,000 ounces with a grade of 2.13 g/tonne produced between 1991 and 2000. It was originally acquired by Phelps Dodge, who then sold a portion of the property to Campbell Resources Inc. In the late 90's, production ceased due to low gold prices.

Fast forward to the present. Under the direction of Gregory McKelvey, Animas is aiming to re-consolidate the different concessions that were assigned to local Mexican contractors and mount an exploration program. The Company will own directly or have option to own 34,800 hectares.

Animas concurrently conducted a successful private placement both brokered and non-brokered to raise a total of $6.2 million to be used in the qualifying transaction.

President's Message

Along with Rare Element and Sutter Gold, five new companies are featured in this newsletter. What is more exciting are the many new people behind those companies. Building value for emerging companies is our mantra at Pacific Opportunity, but value can't be created without great people. Apoquindo was brought to us by our good friend Scott Gibson, introducing Stephanie Ashton and Cesar Lopez and many other fine people in Chile. Our introduction to Silvermex and Timmins Gold came from Darcy Krohman who had been with the BCSC as Senior Securities and Mining Analyst. Darcy brings an excellent team to the table for both these companies. Rye Patch Gold is led by Bill Howald, and Fortune Valley is led by Mike Gingles, both are backed up by Joe Kajszo. Last, but certainly not least, Animas (which means "soul" in Spanish) will be led by Greg McKelvey who has a well known and distinguished career and was first introduced to us by Jeff Phillips. Their team has been wonderful to work with and we are delighted to add them to our list of "honour role" clients. We at Pacific Opportunity feel fortunate to be associated with so many great people; people that will make our job, i.e. building value, much easier.

Newmont Gold Drilling & Rare-Earth Update

Hot on the heels of promising joint venture results in 2006, Newmont is diligently continuing its drill program on Rare Element Resources' Bear Lodge, Wyoming property. The most important element that has watchers excited is the similarity of the property to the Cripple Creek, Colorado gold deposit. Geology, grades and aerial extent of the mineralization, along with various engineering conditions, are comparable to the ore presently being mined at the profitable, large open-pit Cripple Creek & Victor (CC&V) gold mine. On another note, as of the last week in May, rare-earths drilling is also underway at the Bear Lodge property. Work to be completed includes drilling, detailed environmental, geological, geochemical and geophysical studies.

Sutter Gold Update

Since signing the joint venture agreement regarding the Mexican concession last year, Sutter has been steadily preparing its Sutter Gold Project in California's historic mother lode district towards production. Behre Dolbear was contracted to prepare a NI 43-101 pre-feasibility study on the property. The report will assist the Company in raising production financing.

The 2006-2007 drilling program has continued to deliver positive results and should result in the addition of significant quantities of new Indicated Resources and modest amounts of new Inferred Resources to the Sutter Project resource inventory. The successful identification of strong gold mineralization outside of the present Indicated Resources validates Sutter Gold's models for continuity and lateral extensions of the gold bearing veins.

This year at the World Gold, PGM & Diamond Investment Conference POC hosted a hospitality suite at the Pan Pacific Hotel. Three of our clients were featured, namely Rare Element Resources, Sutter Gold Mining and Animas Resources Ltd. Members of the management from each company were in attendance to answer questions and shared their plans and progress on a variety of exploration fronts.
